Please join us for two free workshops with national traffic-calming expert Dan Burden to learn how Complete Streets can be implemented in ʻAiea.

Complete Streets are roads that are designed and built for people of all ages and abilities, including pedestrians, bicyclists, motorists and public transportation users.

At these workshops community leaders will discuss walkability, learn best practices from around the country and identify demonstration projects for our community. We will highlight what we are doing well and discuss opportunities for creating safer, healthier and more vibrant communities through Complete Streets.
